POINTS OF EXCELLENCE.

Beauty and Elasticity of Stitch. Perfection and Simplicity of Machinery. Using both threads directly from the spools. No fastening of seams by hand and no waste of thread. Wide range of application without change of adjustment. The seam retains its beauty and firmness after washing and ironing. Besides doing all kinds of work done by other Sewing Machines, these Machines execute the most beautiful and permanent Embroidery and ornamental work.

The Highest Premiums at all the fairs and exhibitions of the United States and Europe, have been awarded the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines, and the work done by them, wherever exhibited in competition.

The very highest prize, THE CROSS OF THE LEGION OF HONOR, was conferred on the representative of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines, at the Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1867, thus attesting their great superiority over all other Sewing Machines. For sale by D. W. ROBISON, Gettysburg.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned having had 17 years' experience as a practical Operator on Sewing Machines would recommend the Grover & Baker Family Machine as the cheapest and best machine for family use. The simplicity of construction and elasticity of stitch made by these machines are two very important points in their favor. 250,000 of these machines are to-day bearing witness to the truth of our assertions and the demand is steadily increasing. We have also Shuttle Machines on hand for Tailors and Coach-trimmers use. Call and see us. D. W. ROBISON, Agent, Chambersburg st., Gettysburg, Pa. June 11, 1869.—1y

THE WORLD, DODGES' OHIO AND BUCKEYE Reapers and Mowers.

A careful examination of these machines will commence any one of their superior merits over all others, in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability for work, on all kinds of ground, and in every variety of grass and grain. Confident of this we invite those in want of a good machine to examine for themselves before purchasing elsewhere. These machines can be sold as Naked Mowers—REAPERS as Hand Rake, Self-Rake, or Dropper.—Two different sizes: No. 1 Machine, with two cutter Bars and three Knives, cutting five and a half feet in grain and four feet eight inches in grass; No. 2, cutting four feet six inches. We have that confidence in these machines that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test them with any other they may wish, and keep the one that gives most satisfaction. DODGE'S AUTOMAN SELF-RAKE gives perfect satisfaction, that we consider it the best Self-Rake out, and is attached to no other machine except the Dodge Machine, the Ohio and Buckeye patent. For the benefit of those wanting machines we would refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold the last season, viz:

John Deardorff, Sen.,	Henry Culp,
Ephraim Lady,	Henry King,
George Lady,	Elisha Penrose,

Also, WIRE TOOTH HAY RAKES, including the celebrated Brandt Rake, and Self-discharging Rakes. Also, PLOUGHS, FANNING MILLS, AND FARM IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY. Persons wishing to examine machines will find them at the warehouse of JOSEPH WIBLE & SONS, Gettysburg, Pa., or at the residence of the subscriber, 2 miles from Gettysburg, on the Harrisburg road. Persons wanting Circulars will address the subscriber, Gettysburg, Pa. April 23.—tf WM. WIBLE, Agent,

STILL AHEAD!

HOFFHEINS' REAPER & MOWER, One of the Greatest Machines of the Age,

IS superior to any other Machine now in use, and will excel any that will ever be introduced, having been thoroughly tried and given general satisfaction. I would now inform all those who intend purchasing Machines to call and examine for themselves. This Machine is noted particularly to excel all other machines in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability of work, in all kinds of grass and grain.—It cuts lodged grain admirably, which is a great item in Machines to a farmer. It can be used as a hand rake as well as a self-raker. It cuts 5 feet 2 inches in grain; 4 feet 10 inches in grass; has a steel cutter bar, with wrought iron guards; it can be used as a Single Mower as well as a Combined Machine. A full trial of the Machine can be had. Also, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, and the great and well-known BRANT RAKE, the best rake ever introduced. We would also call your attention to the IRON DOUBLE SHOVEL PLOUGH, wrought iron frame, very light and strong, steel shovels, easily adjusted to run shallow or deep, and is neatly and tastefully made. ALSO, THE KEELER AND EXCELSIOR FANNING MILL, the old Hamborough Fan improved, for many years a great favorite among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is large and strong, has two cockle screens, and warranted to work perfectly. Also all kinds of FARMING IMPLEMENTS always on hand. Any person wishing to examine these machines can see them at the Battlefield Hotel or at my residence, 3 miles from Gettysburg, between the Taneytown road and the Baltimore pike. Medical.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON, Physician of this celebrated Institution, has Discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE. Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved. He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER, Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored. This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS. Relief in six Hours! No Mercury! Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. MENTALLY—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE. Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns." It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment. To such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Certain, Speedy and Effectual Remedy in the World for all Diseases of Imprudence.

No letters received unless postpaid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms. There are so many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Impostors advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation that his Credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. The many thousands cured at this Establishment, year after year and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston witnessed by the representative of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

HAPPY THOUGHTS.

If Manhood's waves have borne our bark
Far distant from the shore,
Whose pleasant scenes were dear to us
When life its blossoms bore –
'Tis sweet when we come back again,
To find each spot we knew,
Decked in the self-same joyous garb
Our youth around it threw.

If Time hath laid his hand upon
The things about our home,
And o'er them all the mournful shade
Of deep, sad change hath come—
Tis sweet to know that in our breasts
The self-same heart beats on,
And that while change rules all witho[ut],
Within we're chilled by none.

Yet sweeter than all this it is
To meet, when we are men,
The friend we parted wh[en] in youth,
The self-same now as th[en]—
To feel that he brings bac[k], through mists
By time and absence ca[st],
The light of that same kindliness
That warmed the blissfull past.

The roses that with garnish bloom
In pleasure's garden spring,
Have each within its painted leaves
Some insect that will sting—
And so 'tis doubly sweet for us,
Amid life's heartless joys,
To catch the blush and fragrance back,
Of flowers we culled when boys.

KITTY'S TRIALS.

"Kitty, Kitty, child!"

"Yes, mother!"

"Do you know that its past six o'clock, and the children to be dressed, and the milk churned before breakfast? Ann has been up this hour, while you are still sleeping and dreaming!"

Kitty arose with a sigh. She had not been asleep, but had certainly been dreaming—those vague, half-conscious dreams that come to us in our first waking moments when we like to lie and review the past day and think over the present, and so prepare ourselves for what awaits us. We all like those moments of dreamy rest before rising in the morning, and generally feel ourselves refreshed and invigorated thereby. Yet Kitty had seldom such a luxury allowed her. She must be up at six precisely, and set about her day's duties—the monotonous, irksome duties which made each day to her an insupportable weariness.

Not that Kitty was lazy, or cross, or selfish. On the contrary, there was not a more industrious and obliging girl in the little town of Greenville, or more universally liked. Her father, who owned a wheelwright establishment, was "well off," as the phrase is, and lived in one of the prettiest frame cottages on Elm street—a white cottage with green blinds, and a trellised porch, extending its whole length. He was a good man, an elder of his church, and much respected by his neighbors. His wife was a notable housekeeper and manager, and he had a large family of bright, healthy children, of whom Kitty, now eighteen, was the eldest. She had a plain good education at the best school in Greenville; she was never scolded by her parents, though Mr. Lennox was sometimes rather peevish when there was much to be done; and she had plenty of wholesome food and comfortable clothing. In short, most people thought that Kitty ought to be a very satisfied and happy girl, and yet she was not so. Why, the reader may perhaps discover.

Kitty stood at her little back window, dressing herself. It was October and the morning was cold, but bright. She looked toward the east, at the rosy flush of the waking day, and the light, crimson-streaked clouds, which floated like barques upon the clear blue expanse of sky. It was a pity, she thought, that anything so lovely should fade. She loved beautiful forms and colors, yet without an idea that there was anything "poetic" in her nature. She hardly knew what "poetry" meant beyond the verses in the stray papers which occasionally found their way to her father's house, and some of which she would carefully cut out and keep between the leaves of her old school atlas, which now served her as a portfolio and scrap book. Yes, there was "Harper's Magazine," and at the thought her face flushed, and her heart gave a sort of throb—a quick, doubtful little throb, in which it would have been difficult to say whether there most of pleasure or of pain, for Charles Hallam sent her those precious numbers of "Harpers"—as he had done for six months past—ever since he went away from Greenville to live in the city as clerk in a firm there. He had paid one brief visit to Greenville this summer—a two days visit; and, oh! how often had Kitty Lennox's thoughts gone back to that August evening when he had walked home with her from church, and lingered at the little gate talking in the bright moonlight, till her mother called her in to get Pussy asleep—that spoiled child having awakened at the very moment when Charlie was hesitating, as if about to say something very particularly, and had been obliged to go away next morning in time to take the five o'clock train to the city. Kitty thought bitterly of it now, as she had many a time before. If only she had not to be forever attending upon the children! At first she had hoped, and, indeed, almost expected that Charlie would write. But no; he had only continued sending "Harpers," and it was only a week since that Mary Hallam, his cousin, had said something about a Miss Myra Grey—such a pretty girl—who boarded in the same house with himself, and had worked him a watch case. Myra Grey! What a pretty name. So different from Kitty Lennox.

"Kitty! mother says you're to dress us directly; and mend this hole in Eddie's stocking; and run up this rent in my apron for me to wear to school; and come down and do the churning, quick."

How Kitty dreaded that daily hour of washing and combing, and mending those three restless children. But she set about the task—arguing with Alice, as the oldest; coaxing Neddie, and exerting herself to keep Pussy quiet by repeating nursery rhymes. And then she went down stairs to her half-hour's churning; after which she was to give Pussy and Neddie their breakfast things, and "get to rights" generally. And then came the sewing and mending—such quantities of it for this large family. She did not object to fine sewing; she rather liked to sit down quietly with a skirt to hem or an apron to make; but, oh! the boys' thick, heavy jackets and trousers, which her little fingers could scarcely grasp without aching; and those coarse flour bags to mend, and the carpet to patch where Pussy had burnt it with a hot poker! And then the looking after the baby, and the helping her mother and Anna the hired girl, to get dinner and hang out the washing.

And all the time there lay beside her on the little work table the unread last number of "Harper's;" and through the gold-tinted vine-leaves over the window sunbeams peeped in and danced merrily upon the floor; and without, all warmth and brightness, and gladness; and poor Kitty, her spirits dull and her eyes heavy, longed for a stroll under the willows by the river which she could see not far away. What was the use she thought of such a life as this? Not that she did not love her family, and was not willing to do all in her power for them; but it was so dull, so tiresome, the daily, never ceasing routine of petty tasks and troubles. Was there never to be anything pleasant or beautiful in her life? And she felt so lonely, though surrounded by those most near and dear to her. [illegible]sted for companionship, for [illegible] congeniality, and, in short, [illegible] she hardly knew what, to [illegible] void in her heart and her [illegible] father was always absorbed in business matters, her mother in domestic af[fairs]; [n]either of them ever seemed to [illegible] attention to Kitty, except as re[garded] her physical comfort, or to imagine for a moment that she needed anything be[yond] this to make her happy and content. And as to John and Dick, those great growing boys, what [did] they think of her, except that she was [illegible] and so convenient to m[ake] anything they wanted? And it was [no wond]er that poor little Kitty felt [illegible] ely, and that she was not quite conte[nted] [illegible]. No wonder that she had fits of despondency, or felt cross and peevish, so that her father wondered at her, and her mother declared that "girls were the most con*trairy* things on earth. She never could understand them."

"Anna," said Mrs. Lennox, "I want you to go over to Squire Lee's this afternoon, and see about the fowls she promised me. Dick will have the hen-house finished by to-morrow."

"Let me go, mother!" said Kitty, looking up from her sewing.

"Why, Kitty, it's a long walk."

"I know; but I shall enjoy it."

"Very well, if you'll take Alice and Will along with you," said her mother.

Kitty would have preferred the solitary walk along the meadows and mill stream to Squire Lee's; but she knew the children, noisy and boisterous as they were, would like it too, so she made no objection.

"Kitty!" called out some one from the garden-gate; "Kitty! do run here for a minute!"

"It's Sue Somers, mother," said Kitty, dropping her work on the table. "I'll be back in a moment."

"Just take the baby out with you, then, Kitty. It'll amuse her, and she's so cross."

So Kitty wearily lifted the heavy fat baby and took it out to where stood Susan Somers, radiant.

"Oh, Kitty, I just wanted to tell you. Aunt Mary's going to have an apple-paring to-morrow, and we're all to be there—such fun!—and don't you think, Mr. Charles Hallam has come just in time for it!"

"Who?" said Kitty, her heart leaping into her throat.

"Why, Charlie Hallam; only he's grown so old with that moustache of his, and so dignified that we'll have to call him Mr. Hallam in future. He came this morning. I saw him just now, at his uncle's, and really hardly knew him, he's improved so much. And he'll stay till the day after to-morrow, so we'll be sure to have him at our apple bee. He's been to C—— on some business for his employers, and got leave to stop on the way. Now be sure, Kitty, that you're at Aunt Mary's in good time. It will be so nice!"

Kitty walked back to the house, a bright spot burning on either cheek.

"Well," said her mother, approvingly, "a little fresh air does brighten you up. A walk to Squire Lee's will do you good, no doubt, and you may go as soon as please, child."

But Kitty hesitated, with a half ashamed look. "I did think I should like it mother; but if you had rather Anna should go——"

"I suppose you've changed your mind about it," said Mrs. Lennox, shortly.—"Well, girls are the most contrairy things."

So Kitty stayed at home that afternoon. She slipped up stairs to her little room, and very carefully arranged her curls, and looked at herself in the glass a long time; and she laid ready, just out of sight, behind the pile of books on her dressing table, a little knot of pink ribbon, which could be pinned on in a moment. And every time she heard the front gate open, her cheek would flush and she would give a little start, and stealthily peep from behind the white dimity curtains. But nobody came—at least nobody that she was looking for—and as the afternoon wore away, the color left her cheek, and her starts grew nervous; until at length, about dusk, she put away the little rose-colored ribbon, and wrapped herself in her mother's brown cloak—a very ugly cloak, but thick and warm—and started for a walk up and down the back garden alley.

"Kitty!" called her mother, "since you're out of doors, and all wrapped up, you may as well take this pot of butter over to Miss Martin's."

Kitty walked on slowly across the field, with the heavy brown jar in her arms.—The wind was cold, and blew her hair about her face, and made her nose and cheeks red; but she cared nothing for her looks now.

Just as she reached Mrs. Martin's gate, it was opened for her by a gentleman who had walked behind her with a young lady on his arm.

"Dear! if it isn't Kitty Lennox," said Miss Cynthia Martin, patronizingly.—"Come in! You'll find mother in the kitchen, I dare say. It's the butter, I suppose."

But Kitty did not reply. She had looked up and recognized in the tall, good looking, moustached and well dressed, young man beside her, Charlie—no, Mr. Charles Hallam. Her face became crimson; her eyes fell, and rested upon the brown jar she carried, and upon the ugly, cumbersome old brown cloak of her mother's.

"I am glad to see you, Miss Kitty," said he, smiling and holding out his hand. And then, seeing that she could not let go the jar to shake hands with him, he added:

"Let me carry this for you."

"No, thank you," said Kitty, in a low voice. She felt not only mortified, but indignant. While she had been so anxiously watching for him he had been walking with Miss Cynthia Martin—a young lady just from a fashionable boarding school, and with a wardrobe which was the wonder of Greenville for its style and expensiveness. A thought of her poor little rose colored ribbon crossed Kitty's mind; and of the ringlets which she had that afternoon carefully arranged. And to think what a sight she now was! What right had he to surprise her thus, when she wasn't fit to be seen? So she answered him briefly and coldly, and unceremoniously depositing the hateful jar on the bench of the portico, said hastily:

"It is late; I must hurry home," and so departed.

"Dear me," said Miss Cynthia, looking after her, with a slight shrug. "I had no idea that she had so much temper."

[illegible] "He cares [illegible]" she repeated to herse[lf] [illegible] wringing of her hands. A[illegible] all the light that her life had ever known had suddenly gone out forever.

So, after walking up and down, up and down, in the cold October wind and darkness until she was chilled through, Kitty stole in by the side door and went upstairs to her room, and there lay down on the bed, feeling herself utterly miserable.

"I can't attend to you this evening, Alice," she said, when the three children came tearing up stairs to call her to tea.—"My head aches badly. Ask Anna please to give you your supper and put you to bed."

"There's no accounting for girls," said Mrs. Lennox, peevishly, when this message was delivered. "I never saw her look better than she did this afternoon; and now laid up with a headache! It's all con*trairiness*, I doubt. Howsoever, Alice, don't make a noise. A rest may do her good."

Kitty fell into a dull, restless slumber, from which she was aroused a few hours later by the slamming of the front door by master Dick, who then came bounding up stairs to bed, three steps at a time.

"Oh, Dick, dear, pray don't make such a noise!" pleaded Kitty, as he passed her door. "Who was it went out just now?"

"Only your Mr. Charles Hallam," answered Dick. "I say, Kit, did you fix my fishing-line for me, as you promised?"

"Did he stay long, Dick?"

"Long? I thought he'd make up his mind to stay all night. It's past ten, I guess. I say, Kit, where's the fishing line?"

"I don't know," replied Kitty, absently. "Did—did he ask for me, Dick?"

"Yes; and mother said you were sick with a bad headache and mustn't be disturbed. Hullo! here's my line. All right!"

Poor Kitty! Let no one smile at her trials. Slight as they may seem to others, they were to her very bitter and severe.—Let us all look back to our own youthful days, and recall these experiences, and then ask ourselves what trials in after-life have been more bitter than those of a girl who loves, half unconsciously to herself, and who flutters in the tormenting suspense of hoping, doubting, fearing, whether she is herself beloved? Who sees in her visions a paradise of love and bliss that may be hers—yet beholds it drifting away, drifting away, and knows herself powerless, through her very maiden modesty and womanly sensativeness, to grasp and retain it! And it was her mother who had placed this barrier between herself and Charlie—as she had done more than once before. She had no feeling, no consideration for her. Did she look upon her as still a child—always to stay at home and work and never be loved and courted and married like other girls?—Poor Kitty felt resentful toward her mother, and to her whole family, who had shown themselves so unconscious of and regardless of her feelings. That they should have fancied that Mr. Hallam had come there and spent two hours for the sake of their society! So Kitty was sulky next morning, and scolded Pussy, and slapped Neddie, and had never, as Dick declared, been half so cross and disobliging. And then, in the afternoon, the poor child went up stairs and cried in bitter repentance, and came down again, looking very meek and very unhappy.

Still Kitty had one hope, one consolation remaining. Mr. Hallam—it was only proper that she should call him so, since he was six years her senior—Mr. Hallam had called to see her, and though they had both been disappointed, yet she should certainly see him this evening at Aunt Mary's apple-bee.

How cheerfully she dressed herself, in her new blue merino, with the little rose-colored ribbon fastening the frill of lace about her throat, and another rose-colored ribbon confining her bright brown ringlets behind. She was pretty, and she knew it; prettier than Cynthia Martin, with all her silks and jewelry. She wondered if Mr. Hallam would think so. She wondered whether he would pay her any attention—escort her to the supper table, or walk home with her.—He had done that once or twice before his leaving Greenville.

Rat-tat-tat! went the brass door-knocker and Kitty's heart beat almost as loud again. She flew to the head of the stairs and peeped over as Alice admitted the visitor. It was only Sue Somers.

"Are you ready, Kitty?" she called out. "Do make haste, and we can go on together. It is five o'clock already, and I met Cynthia Martin and Mr. Hallam just now, on their way to Aunt Mary's."

She had run up stairs, and now stood leaning on the little dressing-table while Kitty fastened the lace frills about her wrists.

"She thinks that she is making a conquest," pursued Miss Susan sarcastically, "but I know better. Mary Hallam showed me to day, while he was out, the prettiest card case—all pearl and silver—that he had bought in C——, for a present to that Miss Myra Grey. It had her initials on it; and when grandma asked him this evening if he were not going to be married soon, he colored and laughed, and said he hoped so. And what puts it beyond a doubt," continued Miss Susan, positively, "is that Mrs. Moore told Miss Higgins, that her sister, who lives in the city and takes in sewing, is engaged upon Miss Myra Grey's wedding clothes. So there's no doubt that Mr. Hallam is to Marry her."

Kitty did not answer. She sat down on the side of the bed, and her fingers trembled about the lace frills.

"Let me do that for you. Why, how you tremble—and your face is so white; Why, Kitty, what is the matter?" cried Sue in alarm.

"Indeed, I dont know. I am not well—I have not been well all day," said poor Kitty, brokenly. And she laid her head on the pillow and closed her eyes, as if she wished never again to open them.

"You'd better stay at home this evening, child," said her mother, who now came up stairs. "I don't know what can be the matter, unless it is that you took cold staying out last night. I'll get you a cup of hot tea, and let you go to bed early. But, to my mind girls are the most unaccountable creatures!"

Kitty took off her blue merino and her pink ribbons, hardly knowing what she did. To her all was a dreary blank—a dull, dead, hopeless void. She went down stairs mechanically to supper, and drank the tea, and then took the baby which her mother placed in her arms, and rocked to and fro, to and fro, in the low rocking chair, feeling all the time as though she were in a dream—but such a dreary, dreary dream.

"If you are well enough, Kitty, I wish you'd stay with baby while I go round to [illegible] and [illegible] ppy— [illegible] he would [illegible] parents—and [illegible] Her mother! [illegible] but more gentle, and [illegible] sing towards her. Oh, [illegible] y lean her poor aching head [illegible] mother's breast, and rest there as she had done when she was a child. Poor Kitty.

Her head was burning and her temples throbbing. She went out into the little front porch, and sat there, screened by the trellis-work. It was a mild, pleasant evening for the season, and she felt refreshed by the open air, and soothed by the sight of the calm moonlight.

It was late—almost nine o'clock—and only one or two persons passed hastily along the quiet village street. Presently however, some one stopped at the little front gate—her mother no doubt. Not her mother, but her father, or one of the boys, for it was a man. He opened the gate and came in.

"Is it you, Kitty? he asked, and Kitty's heart beat so painfully that she could not answer—could not even rise from her seat on the green bench behind the trellis.

"I have to leave Greenville early tomorrow," pursued Mr. Charles Hallam, very quietly, and "I could not go without seeing you and telling you good bye."

"I—I thought you were to be at the apple bee this evening," murmured Kitty mechanically.

"I have just left there. I had expected to see you there, Kitty."

"Me? I was not well enough to go."

"So Miss Somers said, or I should have called for you after having escorted Miss Cynthia Martin. I was on my way here when I met her, and as she complained of not being able to cross the muddy place above, I offered my services."

"Had you a pleasent evening?" inquired Kitty, in the same low mechanical voice.

"Not very. I missed you, Kitty."

"Me!"

Looking up, she met his eyes fixed upon her with a strange look—a look which sent a sudden thrill to her heart, and caused her almost to tremble. He moved a little nearer her on the bench.

"I have wanted so much to see you, Kitty," he said in the same low voice, "and to talk to you. I wanted to ask you something."

"What?" said Kitty, lifting her blue eyes wonderingly. They were very sad eyes now, for she had not forgotten Myra Grey.

"It is this," answered Charles Hallam, taking both her hands in his, and looking tenderly and earnestly down into the blue eyes—"I have loved you a long time. Kitty—more than two years; and what I have to ask is, will you be my little wife, and go away with me to a home of our own?"

Oh, what a light and glory burst suddenly upon Kitty's life, with those words!

It was like enchantment, and for a moment she could not realize, could not believe it.

"But," she faltered, drawing a little back, and looking seriously into his face, "you—I heard that you were to be married soon."

"I hope so, Kitty."

"To—to Miss Myra Grey?"

Mr. Charles Hallam smiled. Miss Myra Grey is certainly to be married next week, Kitty, but not to me—only to a friend of mine—and I am to be groomsman."

Kitty suffered him to pass his arm around her and draw her gently towards him. There was no more darkness for her now—all was glorious sunlight.

What a wonderful change in our lives may be wrought by a few spoken words!

"Dear me!" said Mrs. Lennox, as, coming in a few minutes later, she found Kitty flushed, happy, radiant—"Dear me! Of all the unaccountable, contrary things on earth, I do think that girls are the worst. There's no understanding them, anyway!"

Perhaps she understood it better next morning, when a letter was delivered to Kitty's father from Kitty's suiter; her only exclamation was—

"Well, I do declare! Who'd have thought it?"

Who, indeed, except those who have not forgotten their own youth and its secret joys and sorrows, that are so keenly felt and so seldom told?—N. Y. Sunday Times.

THE LADY JURORS SAYING THEIR PRAYERS.—A little circumstance connected with the late term of Court comes to our knowlege, which we are inclined to make public, even at the risk of betraying confidence. During the long and tedious Howie murder trial, the jury (of whom one half were ladies) were not permitted to separate and go to their homes, but were, under the charge of bailiffs (one lady and a gentleman) taken to the hotel for their meals, and lodging was provided for them in the adjoining parlors, each under the charge of their bailiff. And here, every morning during the trial, upon arising from their beds, these ladies kneeled together, and, like the child Samuel, asked wisdom of God to enable them to properly and wisely discharge their new and arduous duties. While their male associates were engaged in boisterous mirth and trifling levity they, with the full consciousness of the responsibility resting upon them, were seeking aid at the throne of the All wise.—Laramie Sentinel.

A WAGGISH journalist, who is often merry over his personal plainness, tells this story on himself: I went to a chemist the other day for some morphine for a sick friend. The assistant objected to giving it to me without a prescription, evidently fearing that I intended to commit suicide, "Pshaw!" said I, "do I look like a man who would kill himself?" Gazing steadily at me a moment, he replied: "I don't know. It seems to me if I looked like you I should be greatly tempted to kill myself!"

A SAN FRANCISCO school teacher received the following: "I hope, as to my John, you will flog him just as offin as you kin. Heas a bad boy—is John. Altho I've bin in habit of teachin him myself, it seems to me he never will larn anithing—his spellin is outrageously deffishent. Wallop him well, ser, and you will receiv my thanks. P. S. What accounts for John bein sich a scholar is that he is my sun by my wife's fust husband."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN used to say the best story he ever read of himself was this: Two Quakeresses were travelling on the railroad, and were heard discussing the probable termination of the war. "I think," said the first, "that Jefferson will succeed." "Why does thee think so?" asked the other. "Because Jefferson is a praying man." "And so is Abraham a praying man," objected the second. "Yes: but the Lord will think Abaham is joking," the first replied, conclusively.

bill was adopted as a s...
House bill, with severa...
amendments designed to pr...
rights of citizens and secure fai...
tions. The bill is carefully draw... quite lengthy, and seems to cover every conceivable violation or evasion of the 15th Amendment. Sherman's amendment, which was adopted by a vote of 31 to 11, provides that any person at elections for members of Congress, or electors for President or Vice President, who shall vote and not be entitled to vote, or who shall, by any means, induce or compel an election officer to receive unlawful votes, and any election officer refusing or omitting to do any duty imposed by this act, shall be indictable and on conviction suffer fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding three years, or both, and pay costs. The same penality is provided for unlawfully registering or causing the registering of any person not entitled.

Mr. Morton's amendment makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, for any person to intimidate a colored voter by threatening to terminate his lease, or ejecting him from houses, lands, or other property. Mr. Pool's amendment provides fine and imprisonment not exceeding $10,000 and ten years, and a perpetual disqualification for office, of any persons banding together in disguise to intimidate or deprive any person of the rights to which he is entitled by the Fifteenth Amendment. This is aimed more particularly at the murderous Klu-Klux organizations in the South.

The main struggle was on these radical amendments, Democratic Senators being aided in the opposition to them by Trumbull, Edmunds, Carpenter, Ferry, and other "conservative" Republicans. Their adoption by decided majorities is regarded as a triumph of the progressive Republican element in the Senate, and as foreshadowing the defeat of the Bigham provision in the Georgia bill, when it comes before the Senate. The bill, thus amended, finally passed by a strict party vote—yeas 42, nays 8—Edmunds, Conkling and a few other Republicans not voting.

The House having non-concurred in the Senate amendment, a Committee of Conference was appointed, who on Tuesday reported the Senate bill without material amendment. It will of course be approved by the President.

SOME of the Democratic papers have been trying to make a point as against President Grant, by the statement that he recently refused a favor asked by Gen. Hancock because the latter did not approve of the policy of the Administration—in other words, because Hancock was a Democrat. This has led to a publication of the correspondence, which will be found in another column. It turns out that Hancock's request was declined because of insubordination and rude deportment in his personal relations to Gen. Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the army. It will be recollected that when Johnson put himself in the hands of the Rebel element, and made war on Gen. Sheridan because the lattet put his foot on the New Orleans Rebels, Sheridan was removed from the command of the Department of Louisiana, despite the protests of Gen. Grant, then Commander-in-Chief. Johnson had some trouble to get an army officer high enough in rank to do his dirty work. Finally, Gen. Hancock, who had made a brilliant war record, lent a willing ear to the seductive flatteries of false friends, who whispered the probability of his nomination to the Presidency by the Democratic party, and the possibility of his reaching the White House. He became demoralized, consented to be a tool of the President, did the work prescribed, but failed to obtain the promised prize. On his return to Washington, he declined to report personally to the Commander-in-Chief of the Army, simply registering his name at headquarters, and subsequently refused to recognize Gen. Grant on the street—afterwards boasting of the insult. The tables have turned.—Hancock didn't get to be President—Grant did. And now, when Hancock sues for a special favor from the man whom he deliberately insulted, the President delicately reminds him that "the relations which he (Hancock) chose to assume towards him (Grant) officially and privately, absolve him from regarding Hancock's personal preferences." That is the whole of it. The correspondence speaks for itself.

THE election in New York, over which the Democracy are felicitating themselves, was a farce so far as concerns New York City and Brooklyn, where by reason of the Republicans making no stand the "repeaters" had the polls pretty much to themselves, rolling up over 70,000 Democratic majority in the two cities. Even the World, the leading Democratic organ, admits the farce in the following brief reference to the election:

"Repeating was carried on as usual and with usual success. In some of the districts the register lists were but seldom consulted—a fact which made repeating and other illegal voting comparatively easy."

The majority in the State for the Democratic ticket is slightly over that cast in New York and Brooklyn. The rural districts, where the Republican strength lies, polled an unusually light vote—partly by reason of its being a busy season with farmers, and partly because of a knowledge that until something be done to break up the enormous fraudulent voting in New City, political contests are useless.—The "repeaters" can roll up any majority requisite to swamp the legal Republican majority in the State. It is admitted that the Tammany wing of the party did the heaviest business in the repeating and ballot-stuffing line, leaving the local candidates of rival Democratic organizations nowhere.

THE Presbyterian General Assembly, now in session in Philadelphia, attracts much attention. Among the delegates, lay and ministerial, are some of the strongest men in the church. The Assembly will be in session longer than usual, by reason of the large amount of time that will be occupied in consolidating and re-arranging Synods, Mission and Publication Boards, &c. Rev. Dr. Paxton, of New York, is Chairman of the Home Mission Committee.

... Mr.
...g the
...an was one
...s. He now re-
...which the For-
...ment is dominant,
...ought to make some
... proposition. Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, opposed the amendment and very sensibly stated his objections:

I am opposed to this amendment because I do not consider that any of the reasons for which ministers are appointed demand the appointment of a minister to Rome. When we accredit ministers to Turkey, Greece, and other such nations, we accredit ministers to nations with whom we have commercial intercourse. With Rome there is no such intercourse whatever. Rome sends no minister here. It is a Power which is unique and sui generis, and has nothing to do with the commercial world at all. It is to a great extent a religious Power, to which we never accredit a minister for any reason whatever; and the chief ground upon which my colleague urges the appointment is the fact that this is a spiritual Power. The only method of preserving peace and harmony with such a Power is to abstain from political connection with it whatever. Neither the State Department nor any other branch of the Government suggests the idea of commencing anew diplomatic relations with this Government.

We abolished the mission some years ago because it was found entirely useless, and wholly upon our side, without reciprocation on their part. I do not see the slightest reason whatever why we should add this amount to the current expenses of the Government. Rome is a place to be visited by men who love art and science, and men of taste and culture; it is a place of resort for travelers. But there is no necessity for a minister or a consul at a place where the pleasure travel of the world centres.

Mr. Cox, of New York city, a demagogue of the first water, followed up Brook's demonstration, and while bitterly assailing the Puritanic element of the country proceeded to pronounce exalted eulogies on Rome, charging the Republican party with hostility to the Catholic church, and hence the opposition to sending a minister to Rome. This brought to his feet Bingham, of Ohio, the best ex tempore talker in the House, who replied in a five minutes speech of rarely surpassed eloquence. As reported in the Congressional Globe, Mr. Bingham said:

I regret very much, Mr. Chairman, that the gentleman from New York [Mr. Brooks] has seen fit to reply to objections made to the proposed amendment to this bill by imputing to this side of the House any desire to persecute Rome on account of the peculiar religious notions entertained by the See of the Papal States. It was unworthy of the gentleman. Instead of making such an appeal as that to passion and prejudice, instead of making any such bid as that for the votes of any religious sect in America, he would have done well to have told this House and the country what occasion there is for any other representative of this country at Rome than that which is already provided by this bill. This bill makes an appropriation for a consul at Rome, and that answers at once the suggestion of the gentleman that there is in this bill any intendment even to strike at that people on account of their peculiar religious faith.

Rome, Mr. Chairman, needs no peculiar eulogy at the hands of gentlemen who suppose that that particular religious sect supports the Democratic organization of this country; for, sir, recent events have shown to reflecting men that that power itself is no longer a unit, and cannot be. The syllabus recently uttered by the head of that organization is a declaration of principles which, I venture to say, the gentleman from New York himself dare not indorse and go home among his people. It is an attempt to fetter the freedom of conscience; it is an attempt to fetter the freedom of speech; it is an attempt to fetter the freedom of the press; it is an attempt to strike down the rising antagonism to every despotism on the face of the earth, in the form of representative government, foremost among the exponents of which is America, the child and the hope of the earth's old age. Talk to me at this era of history about Rome being the "patron of science and the mother of arts!"—Why, sir, of that genius that makes even the marble itself wear the divine beauty of life there is more to-day in living America than was ever dreamed of in Rome, living or dead. Why, then, talk at this day about dignifying that little principality with a resident minister from America? Do not gentlemen know that in the light of the teachings of that foremost of all the men bred in the faith of the church of Rome (and I admit she had bred many great and noble men, who knew how to make humanity itself beautiful even amid the terrors and tortures of martyrdom,) uttered a word when under the ban of Charles V, and Leo X, and Henry VIII, which reverberates to-day all over Christendom; I refer, sir, to the Augustan monk who found out for himself and proclaimed to mankind the great central truth which to-day possesses the enlightened mind of the nineteenth century, that no mitered head may, of the grace of God or of divine right, interpose its dark shadow between man and his Maker. By that word Martin Luther became the liberator of the human race; it made the immortal period of human history, the reformation, the insurrection of the human mind, against the despotism which for centuries had enslaved it. Under the omnipotent power of that utterance every tyrant, whether in Rome or out of it, holds to-day the reins of power with a tremulous and unsteady hand; and the day is not far distant when every throne of power shall turn to dust and ashes before the consuming breath of the enlightened public opinion of the civilized world, which declares for free governments, free churches, free schools, free Bibles, and free men.

Mr. Bingham's remarks produced a profound sensation, and a protracted debate ensued, participated in by Messrs. Dawes, Voorhees, Banks, Hoar, Cox, Bingham, Brooks, Orth, Elridge and others, with more or less personalities—the excitement at times rising to fever heat and defying all efforts of the Chairman to preserve order. The confusion was only terminated by the Committee finally rising and reporting progress to the House.

During the debate, Mr. Voorhees, of Indiana, renewed the attack on the Puritanic element of the country, with a re-hash of Brooks' and Cox's demagogical attempts to give the opposition to the mission a religious aspect. He went further and developed a little meaner specimen of demagoguism than either by remarking:

Gentlemen on the other side may flatter themselves that they have the negro vote of this country to enable them to dispense with the vote of the foreigner. In my own State it is said, "Let the Irish go, let the Dutch go; we have the negroes in their place." Never did that party love the foreigner, more especially the foreigner of the Catholic faith.

This called out Mr. Orth, of the same State, who brought his colleague to time by a direct challenge of the truthfulness of this statement, and daring him to name any Republican, in or out of Congress, or any Republican paper in or out of Indiana, as having used any such language. Voorhees at first attempted to parry the subject by loose explanation, but being pressed was compelled to back down squarely. Mr. Orth further very quietly but effectually covered the real issue in a very few words:

Mr. Chairman, the debate upon these amendments has taken rather a wide and extraordinary range; but I think every impartial observer upon this floor will concur with me when I say that the religious aspect given to it came from the other side of the House. Now, sir, I am opposed to re-establishing this mission at Rome irrespective of any question of religion, because, first, in truth and in fact, Rome is no

... other side of the House, for purposes known to themselves, for purposes that will be known and appreciated by the country, have sought to give this question a political aspect with reference to a large and respectable religious sect in this country; and, sir, I am well satisfied that religious sect will not thank them for thus needlessly dragging their church into this discussion. They will regard it and the country will regard it as a weak and puny effort to gain partisan power and friendship among the members of that church.

The proposition to send a Minister to Rome was quietly voted down next day, Brooks, Cox and Voorhees having had an opportunity to make a few "buncombe" speeches and thus accomplish their purposes. Intelligent Catholics will understand the matter, and, as Mr. Orth remarked, will not thank these false friends for impertinently thrusting religious issues into political debate.

HON. Jeremiah S. Black, of York, Buchanan's Attorney General, and author of the celebrated legal opinion which led Buchanan to declare in his message of December 1860 that the Government had no right to use coercive measures to prevent the Secession of States from the Union, has a lengthy article in the June No. of the Galaxy, addressed to Senator Wilson. It is ostensibly in reply to the article of the latter in a recent issue of the Atlantic Monthly, wherein Mr. Wilson developed the treasonable character of a portion of Buchanan's Cabinet, and Secretary Stanton's agency in keeping loyal members of Congress posted as to the doings of the traitors. But Judge Black's article is simply characteristic, intensely bitter, dealing in loose declarations and not deigning to bring any facts to the support of his sweeping allegations. While pretending to defend Stanton from the charge of hypocrisy, he makes him a party to the misdeeds of the Cabinet, cordially endorsing, and never dissenting from, all that was said and done. Of course, to reach this conclusion it is necessary to discredit all the facts developed by Senator Wilson, and Judge Back wipes them out by a broad, sweeping denial. Between Senator Wilson and Judge Black there is thus a direct issue—the former maintaining Stanton's loyalty, the latter asserting his complicity with treason. Senator Wilson has an advantage in Stanton's subsequent energetic devotion to the Government and his intense hatred of the Rebellion and all concerned in it. Nor will the country hesitate which witness to believe. Judge Black has no reason to feel sore. He practically espoused the cause of traitors by proclaiming, as the law officer of the Government, that it was powerless to prevent its own destruction. When Secession ripened into Rebellion, and during the whole progress of the War, he took no pains to conceal his sympathies. Had the Rebellion succeeded, he would have been duly honored by triumphant traitors. As it is, he should not complain that a loyal people hold him to his record.—In the Galaxy article, while Judge Black has a kind word to say for Toucey, Cobb, Thompson and other traitors, he exhausts the vocabulary of malignancy to express his intense hatred of the Republican party and all who helped to save the Government.

THE colored people of Baltimore had a grand demonstration on the 19th inst., in honor of the adoption of the 15th Amendment. The procession was large and imposing, about 10,000 persons being in line, while probably 10,000 more lined the sidewalks. Delegations were present from other cities and numerous towns, many of the clubs and organizations carrying handsome banners, and making a fine display of regalia and uniform peculiar to many of the associations. The procession halted in Monument Square, where a Mass Meeting was held, addressed by Frederick Douglas, John M. Langston, Sella J. Martin, George T. Downing, (all colored,) and by Postmaster General Cresswell, Judge Bond, Horace Maynard, Gen. Heath, and other prominent Republicans. It was a gala day among the colored people, the houses of the wealthier class being gaily decorated with flags and evergreens, and brilliantly illuminated at night. Every thing passed off quietly, the Police being out in strong force and promptly squelching all attempts by negro-phobiaists to give trouble.

FOR several days there has been unusual activity among the Fenians, and mysterious movements of large bodies of men towards the Canada frontier, on various railroad lines, indicate a raid on Canada. The movement is regarded sufficiently formidable to call from the President a proclamation of neutrality, warning all persons not to engage in hostile expeditions from the soil of the United States. A few days will develope the meaning of this unwonted activity in the Fenian camp.

A party of Fenians, several hundred strong, under the lead of Gen. O'Neil, crossed the Canada line near St. Albans, Vermont, on Wednesday, but being surprised by a sharp volley of musketry from Canadian troops, whose position had been concealed, they fell back. Gen. O'Neil was promptly arrested on his return to Vermont soil by the U. S. Marshal of that district and committed to jail for violating the President's proclamation. Two Fenians were killed in the skirmish.

Despatches from various points on the Canada frontier report the movements of large bodies of Fenians, but there is evident dissension among the leaders. The officers of the Fenians Centres at Philadelphia, Cincinnati, and other places, say the present raid on Canada is unauthorized by the Brotherhood and has been gotten up as a personal enterprise by irresponsible parties.

Gen. Meade is concentrating U. States troops at threatened points, to prevent unlawful enterprises.

THE case of Dr. Schoeppe will probably not be argued at the present term of the Supreme Court. His counsel desire a full bench, whereas but three (Judges Thompson, Agnew and Sharswood) are now sitting at Harrisburg, Thompson and Sharswood are thought to be adverse to re-opening the case, and Schoeppe's counsel don't care to risk the argument unless all the Judges be present.

BOTH Houses of Congress have adopted a joint resolution to adjourn on the 15th of July.

WE have received the full text of the bill to enforce the 15th Amendment and will publish it next week.

DESPATCHES from General Sherman, Lieutenant General Sheridan, Major General Pope, Brigadier General Ruggles and others, concerning the recent Indian difficulties on the Pacific Railroad, show that the General-in-Chief is determined to have peace throughout the country. Referring to outrages perpetrated by white men disguised as Indians, General Sherman says that "such men are as bad, if not worse, than Indians, and are not entitled to any mercy."

GEN. HANCOCK AND THE PRESIDENT.

On the 13th of April last Maj. Gen. W. S. Hancock addressed the following telegraphic despatch to Gen. W. T. Sherman, dated St. Louis.

"If my rank will not entitle me to a Division, and the changes in the Departments are such as to make it practicable, I would prefer this (St. Louis) station. I leave at once for St. Paul."

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, WASHINGTON, April 16, 1870.
General W. S. Hancock, Commanding Department of Dakota, St. Paul, Minnesota:

Your despatch from St. Louis has been received, and I will answer you by mail. In the contemplated changes your post will not be altered.

(Signed) W. T. SHERMAN, General.

HEADQUARTERS ARMIES OF UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, April 14, 1870.
General W. S. Hancock, Commanding Department of Dakota:

General—I have laid your despatch of the 13th, from St. Louis, before the President, who authorizes me to say that your wishes and claims for the succession to the command of the Military Division of the Pacific, made vacant by General Thomas' death, were fairly considered, and also your preference for the Department of the Missouri in case of a change of Commanding Generals of Divisions and Departments, and that the relations you chose to assume towards him, officially and privately, absolve him from regarding your personal preferences.

The order announcing these changes will be made public in a very few days, and they will not touch the Department of Dakota or the Military Divisions of the Missouri.

I am, with respect, yours truly,
W. T. SHERMAN, General.

HEADQ'RS DEPARTMENT OF DAKOTA, ST. PAUL, MINN., April 27.
Gen. W. T. Sherman, commanding Army of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

General—Your letter has been received detailing the reasons the President gives why my claims to a more important command should not be regarded.

I intended by my despatch to ask for a Division if the existing Divisions were all continued; otherwise for the Department of the Missouri, if changes made it practicable, not as a favor, but as a claim to a command to which I thought my rank entitled me.

As the President leads me to believe that because I have not his personal sympathy my preferences for command will not be regarded, notwithstanding my rank, I shall not again open the subject, but will add, in conclusion, that I think it is an unfortunate precedent to establish that military rank in time of peace, especially in the assignment of general officers to commands of Divisions and Departments, shall not have the consideration hitherto conceded to it.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant, WINFIELD S. HANCOCK,
Major General U. S. A.

The above correspondence has been copied from the telegrams and letters on file in the War Department, and it will be perceived that the following words, recently attributed to General Sherman, do not appear in the letter of this gentlemen:

I am requested by the President to inform you that there is nothing in your personal relations to General Grant, or in your official relations to his Administration that can justify your promotion now, or lead you to expect it thereafter.

The reference in General Sherman's letter to the "relations" which General Hancock "chose to assume toward him [the President] officially and privately," and absolving the President from regarding General Hancock's personal preferences, is thus explained. At the time the reconstruction acts were put in operation General Hancock was transferred from the Department of the Missouri to the District of Louisiana, and General Grant, as General in Chief, modified or revoked one of General Hancock's orders, to which the latter took strong personal exceptions. Shortly after, by order of the President, General Hancock was assigned to the command of the Division of the Atlantic, and came to Washington. He went to General Grant's headquarters, and instead of calling upon him personally simply registered his name, which was unusual if not discourteous.

General Grant, having no knowledge or apprehension that General Hancock was offended with him, meeting him on the street shortly afterwards, accosted him in a friendly way, "Good morning, General Hancock." To this General Hancock made no verbal response, but merely touched his hat and passed on. Some time subsequent the two met at a wedding party, when General Hancock turned his back to him. General Grant was also informed that General Hancock had boasted of his discourtesy to him in the street. When General Hancock used language which was considered disrespectful and insubordinate to his superior officer. General Hancock is now a major general in command of a department. When General Thomas died there were left four major generals. Halleck, who had been on the Pacific coast, and had served out a term of duty; Meade, who was offered the command as successor to Thomas, but without change of rank, preferred remaining in Philadelphia. Thus the choice lay between Hancock and Schofield. The matter was submitted to the President, who simple directed that Schofield should be sent to the Pacific, leaving Hancock just where he was, namely, in command of one of the most important military departments of the country.

ARITHMETICAL PROBLEM.—There is a will on file in the office of Register of Wills of Lancaster county that has set the Executors to ciphering. It contains in substance the following clause:

"I give the sum of $1,269 96 to my four children, to be divided among them in such sums, as each will have equal sums, upon arriving at the age of twenty-one years.—Distribution to be made April 1st, 1870.—The ages of the children, April 1st, 1870: Susan, 21 years; Joseph, 19 years, 15 days; John, 16 years, 5 months, 26 days; Jonas, 10 years, 11 months, 13 days."

The auditor, in making a distribution of the estate, was required to ascertain what amount was due to each child on the 1st of April, 1870. Such of our readers as are fond of tough arithmetical questions may exercise their ingenuity on this.

BURNED TO DEATH.—Mr. Horatio James, an old and highly respected citizen, residing about one mile below this place, on the Georgetown pike, was burned to death on Monday afternoon last. After dinner he went out to burn some brush in a piece of woods a short distance back of his house, belonging to Mrs. Lyddane, where he intended making a cabbage bed, and it is supposed after firing the brush the fire got away from him, and caught to some wood that was piled up near by, and in endeavoring to suppress it exercised himself to such an extent as to cause him to fall, from exhaustion, on the wood, where he was found lying by Mr. Lyddane, who had been attracted to the spot by the large volume of smoke, with all his clothing and one of his hands nearly burnt off. He was not dead when found, but died before he could be got home.—Rockville Sentinel.

JURIES sow, the wind and communities reap the whirlwind. In New York, on Wednesday last, a husband named Broadwell, jealous of his wife—his brutal treatment of whom, continued for years, had driven her from home to find the means of living elsewhere—shot her dead. Her life, it is abundantly proved, was pure and blameless, yet her husband killed her in an insane fit of jealousy. The fruits of the seeds sown by the jury that did not send McFarland to an insane asylum, on his acquittal, are ripening quickly, and they are likely to be plentiful so long as the doctrine stands that suspicion in a husband's mind is a good cause for the murder of his victim.

ANECDOTES OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—Now that the religious convictions of Mr. Lincoln are being so generally discussed, everybody seems disposed to bring up every trifle in evidence pro or con. Having my mite to offer in proof that he was not an unbeliever in Christianity, I take this opportunity of doing so, though, as will be seen, it is only a mite:

"Soon after the war began, while calling on Mrs. Speed, of Louisville, Ky., mother of James Speed, ex-Attorney General, I noticed a cabinet sized photograph of Mr. Lincoln hanging in the parlor. Beneath the photograph was written: "To Mrs. Martha Speed, from whom I received an Oxford Bible thirty years ago." It was signed "Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States," and on inqury Mrs. Speed told me it was sent to her almost immediately after his inauguration. This shows that Mr. Lincoln not only considered the present one of value, but one deserving of being suitably acknowledged by the distracted condition of the country following his first election, and when his remembering a gift bestowed so many years back was in itself a remarkable circumstance.

Mr. Lincoln gave the following account of the first announcement of the Emancipation Proclamation in Cabinet meeting. He said he read it through and there was a dead silence. Presently Mr. Chase spoke. He said he liked all but so and so, instancing a clause; then some one else made an objection, and then another, until all had said something. Then the President said, "Gentlemen, this reminds me of the story of a man who had been away from home, and when he was coming back was met by one of his farm hands who greeted him after this fashion: 'Master, the little pigs are dead, and the old sow's dead too, but I didn't like to tell you all at once.'" In answer to some remarks which were made to him when Mr. Chase was proposed as a candidate for the Presidency in opposition to himself, he observed jocosely, "Oh, it don't disturb me in the least. I think I shall run the better for it. I never knock a horse-fly off one of my horses; I find he goes faster for the bite."

The relief report shows 7,445 brothers and 803 widowed families relieved. The amounts paid were: For relief of brothers, $187,505.31; for relief of widowed families, $15,806.84; for education of orphans, $930,871; for burying the dead, $46,533.82. The total expenditures for relief, $258,776.84. This is an increase of $25,073.26 over the previous year.

The total receipts of the year were $630,799.40, an increase of $107,820.43 over the previous years.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

THE greatest bugbear in the way of the woman-suffrage movement hitherto has been the many out-spoken declarations of Scripture against reversing the present social order. So great a difficulty has this appeared that leading agitators in the cause are represented to have renounced the Bible altogether. "If the Bible does not countenance the perfect equality of woman, then so much the worse for the Bible," is the logic imputed to them. But Miss Phoebe Cozzens, the St. Louis brunette, a new orator in behalf of suffering woman, has done better. She has discovered undoubted Scriptural authority for subordinating the men, remanding them to the kitchen, and setting them to cleaning crockery and cooking utensils. She finds this authority in II Kings, xxi, 13, viz: "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish; wiping it, and turning it upside down." Now let there be no more quoting of passages enjoining upon the wife subjection unto her husband.

WORTHY OF IMITATION.

Our Yankee brethren know the value of good training, and a thorough education of their children. All must attend school regularly—and none dare be without a regular and lawful occupation. Truancy and idleness are both looked upon as crimes, and punished accordingly. The following extract from a Massachusetts paper shows the action recently taken by the people of the city of Waltham (ten miles from Boston) on these subjects, upon the recommendation of their school committee:

SECTION 1. The inhabitants of the town of Waltham hereby adopt these Sections of the 42d chapter of the General Statutes of the Commonwealth, which relate to habitual truants and children not attending school, or without any lawful occupation, or growing up in ignorance, and make the following By-Laws concerning such truants and children.

SECT. 2. Any minor, who shall absent himself, or herself from school without the consent of his or her parent, or acting guardian, or teacher, shall be deemed a truant, and upon conviction of such offence be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, or be sent to the Waltham Almshouse for a term not exceeding six months.

SECT. 3. Three persons shall be appointed at the annual town meeting, who alone shall be authorized to make complaints under the foregoing section, and to carry the judgments thereon into execution, and it shall be their duty also to inquire diligently concerning all minors between the ages of five and sixteen years who seem to be idle and vagrant, and whether employed or unemployed, appear to be growing up in ignorance and vice, and to enter complaints against them, and such minors, if convicted, shall be punished in the same way as habitual truants.

SECT. 4. The complaints shall be made before a trial justice in said town of Waltham, and the justice shall receive in each case as a compensation for his services, the sum of three dollars.

If the people of Pennsylvania were authorized to take similar action upon these subjects there would be much less idleness and crime in our midst, and we would soon be relieved from the reproach that so many of our citizens can neither read nor write. It is to the jealous care our New England brethren exercise over the moral and intellectual training of their youth, that they owe, mainly, their present intellectual greatness and material prosperity as a people.

A DEATH by hydrophobia, under singular and very distressing circumstances, occurred at Yonkers, New York, on Tuesday morning week. An engineer by the name of Thomas Lamb, was bitten in January last by a large dog belonging to Mr. Bergan, at his brewery in Dobb's Ferry. Although Lamb's hand was not much lacerated by the dog, and no anxiety was felt as regards any serious consequences arising from the bite, the dog, a very valuable one, however, was killed by Mr. Bergan. On Tuesday of last week young Lamb was married, and on the day after the wedding the husband showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and two physicians were immediately sent for, and their treatment for a while seemed to have good effect; but subsequently Lamb sprang from his bed and fled to the woods, where he jumped over fences and barked like a dog. Some of his friends, aided by the police, captured him, and he was taken back to his home, where his ravings, barking, and hideous noises were of the most agonizing character. At an early hour on Tuesday morning Lamb died.

ADVICES from North Carolina tell of the murder, on Sunday morning last, at Yanceyville, of J. A. Stephens, State Senator. It is the old, old story of cowardice and treason. Mr. Stephens was warned, declined to leave his post of duty, and fell under the fire of a whole company of armed rebels. Forty balls entered his body, the men who were afraid to meet him singly in life, gratifying their hatred by mutilating his corpse.

THE residence and all the furniture, including some gold and silver (money) of Henry Otto, of Buena Vista, Bedford county, was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night week.

MISS Susan B. Anthony has announced that the Hon. Clement L. Vallandigham, of Ohio, has espoused the cause of female suffrage.

A TRAP THAT MANY OF OUR STOREKEEPERS HAVE FALLEN INTO.

Buying their queensware, glassware and general supplies in the cities, where the expenses are multiplied five fold.

WM. BLAIR & SON have an immense stock of goods, and are positively selling to the trade their whole line of goods at from five to twenty-five per cent. less than they can be brought from abroad.

WE KNOW some of our storekeepers are paying twenty cents per sack more than our prices for salt; three cents more for best coffee; fifteen to twenty per cent. more for wares; two or three cents per gallon more for coal oil, and in few instances getting the quality of goods we sell. Our advice is, buy near home; in small quantities; sell at lower prices, and make more money. Try it.

Collection of Taxes.

THE following Acts of Assembly are published for general information:

AN ACT

To authorize the more prompt collection of taxes, in the county of York.

WHEREAS, The act, entitled "An Act imposing additional taxes, for State purposes," approved the thirteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, which said act, amongst other matters, provides that the auditor general shall add five per centum penalty to each county, on all State taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of August, of each year, has been found to have a salutary effect:

And whereas, It is equally desirable to have the county taxes, as well as the State taxes, required to be paid by said county, promptly collected, as well to meet the exigencies of the county, as to avoid the penalty which might, under said act, be imposed by the auditor general; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter it shall be lawful for the County Commissioners of the county of York, to add five per centum penalty to the State and County taxes of each and every taxable of said county, remaining unpaid on the fifteenth day of July, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of each year thereafter, and collect the same, in the same manner in which State and county taxes are now recovered and collected, in said county; and that all acts of assembly, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

JAMES R. KELLY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
DAVID FLEMING,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED.—The eleventh day of April, Anno Domino one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six.
A. G. CURTIN.

AN ACT

To authorize the more prompt collection of taxes in the county of Adams.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the act of assembly approved the eleventh day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, to authorize the more prompt collection of taxes in the county of York, be and the same is hereby extended to the county of Adams in like manner as if the same had been especially recited in said act.

B. B. STRANG,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
CHARLES H. STINSON,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The sixteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy.
JNO. W. GEARY.

The Tax Collectors and Tax Payers of Adams county are expected to comply with the provisions of the above Acts of Assembly.

"THE HEATED TERM," IS COMING.

The summer months will very soon be fairly ushered in with their sultry weather and long train of diseases. It is the season when nature can do little in recuperating our exhausted strength, and when we are required to fortify our physique against the dangers arising from the universal prevalency of sickness. The only true safeguard is that sure and reliable tonic and invigorator, MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS, which is indorsed and recommended by the medical faculty and by unnumbered thousands of persons in every city, town and village in the country, who have tested its remedial virtues, and, by its aid, preserved or recovered their health. It will purify the Blood and Secretions; cure every form of Indigestion, and afford immediate relief in cases of Dysentery, Colic, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, and kindred diseases. Provide yourself now against a time of need, Delays are often dangerous.

SCROFULA CURED by BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Brandreth's Pills penetrate the whole mass of blood, causing the expulsion of impurities. The body feels relieved from a dose; what then may be expected from twenty? By continuing their use, the whole of the blood in time becomes purified, and the body reconstructed from good material, and a new lease of life secured.

Sing Sing, March 26, 1868.

My Dear Sir:—My daughter Alice, thirteen years old, has been completely cured of that horrible disease, Scrofula, which for years rendered life a torment, after all medicines and many physicians had been tried, and failed, I commenced giving her your pills. She took them almost every day for three months, constantly improving. She has now entirely recovered. Yours truly,
DANIEL LUTHER.

Gettysburg, Friday, May 27, 1870.

DECORATION DAY.—We are glad to learn that the "Gettysburg Zouaves," who are about re-organizing, have concluded to move in the matter of decorating the Soldiers' graves on Monday next. The Zouaves will meet to-night, (Thursday,) at 7½ o'clock, in the Arbitration room, to re-organize and take the necessary steps for a proper observance of "Decoration Day." They will be glad to have citizens meet with them to-night, and unite in the arrangements.

We are further requested to announce that contributions of Flowers from ladies in town and country will be thankfully received at Capt. Norris' store, in the diamond, up to 12 o'clock on Monday.

☞Our thanks are due to Senator Duncan for sundry documents.

FAIR.—The Ladies' Fair at McSherrystown, in aid of St. Joseph's Academy, netted $1,190.

☞Wm. Hay, Esq., of York, Pa., of the Class of 1856, will deliver the annual address before the Alumni of Pennsylvania College, at the next commencement.

ORE.—Mr. Josiah Wickersham, of Menallen township, has discovered a very rich bank of Magnectic Iron Ore on his farm, which promises to be very valuable.

ARGUED.—The Gettysburg Railroad case was argued in the Supreme Court, on Tuesday, on exceptions to the Master's Report—David Wills, Esq., for the exceptions, and H. M. North, Esq., of Columbia, for the Report. The decision of the Court will probably not be made for several months.

IN PRINT.—We see it stated that Hon. EDWARD MCPHERSON, who was entrusted by Hon. Thaddeus Stevens with his political papers and correspondence, and who has been engaged in writing the life of the great Commoner, will soon present it to the public, in an elegant style of typography and binding.

RATTLE SNAKE KILLED.—While Messrs. A. B. Scott and Aaron Musselman were engaged, on the 25th of May, in cutting down timber on the farm of Mr. David Musselman, in Hamiltonban township, they encountered a Rattle Snake 3 feet 8 inches in length, and 6½ inches in circumference. It was not discovered till it was within a few feet of them when they speedily despatched it and secured the rattles, being ten in number.

ASSIGNED.—The final examination of the Senior Class of Pennsylvania College took place this week. On Wednesday morning the "honors" were assigned by the Faculty—John A. Himes, of McAllisterville, taking the 1st honor; John L. Kendlehart, of Gettysburg, the 2d; Benjamin J. Hickman, of Bolington, Va., the 3d; and Wm. A. List, of Wheeling, Va., the 4th. Mr. List will deliver the valedictory at the next commencement.

ACCIDENT.—On the afternoon of the 13th inst., a little girl, by the name of Tate, daughter of Alexander Tate, of this borough, was playing along the railroad track, near Webel's brewery, and while thus engaged, was struck by the cow-catcher of the afternoon train going south. The engineer did not discover the child until it was too late to stop the train, and the little innocent was thrown upon the hard ground with so much violence as to inflict serious and, it is feared, fatal injuries. The child is only about four years old.—York Democrat.

SMASH UP.—On Tuesday last, as Sheriff Hann was adjusting the bridle to a spirited horse, hitched to a buggy, in front of the Keystone House, on Chambersburg street, the horse made off, dashing along the pavement, tearing down Mr. Winter's sign, and thence around into the diamond, where he was stopped, the buggy being a perfect wreck. The large show window of A. D. Buehler had a narrow escape. Part of the buggy struck the wood work, but was thrown off by the wheel striking a granite step.

EMMITTSBURG ELECTION.—The annual election for Corporation Officers took place on the 2d inst. No regular nominations were made by either party, and very little interest taken in the election, which passed off quiety, with the following result: Martin Sweeney, Burgess; J. Witherow, Jacob S. Gelwicks, Isaac Hyder, Lewis M. Motter, Geo. W. Rowe and James A. Elder, Commissioners. O. A. Horner, Pres't. Fire Company; Bennet J. Tyson, Vice President; N. Rowe, 1st Engineer; James T. Hays, 2d Engineer; Robert H. Gelwicks, Secretary.

ELECTIONS.—The following gentlemen were, on the 14th inst., elected managers of the Gettysburg Water Company, for the ensuing year: Geo. W. McClellan, E. B. Buehler, S. R. Russell, Mathew Eichelburger and H. J. Stahle. The Board organized by re-electing Geo. W. McClellan President and S. R. Russell Secretary and Treasurer.

The Littlestown Building Association has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Isaac Staub; Vice President, Levi D. Maus; Secretary, James A. Lefevre; Treasurer, James H. Colehouse; Directors, Henry Rahter, Wm. Kuhns, Simon S. Bishop, Martin Steffy and J. H. Miller.

A FEROCIOUS RAT.—We are informed that on last Sabbath whilst the infant of Mr. Tempus Graef, of Abbottstown, lay sleeping in its cradle, it was attacked by a large and ferocious rat. The screams of the child attracted the attention of the family, when it was discovered that the animal had bitten the child in several places on its body.

RELIGIOUS.—The Tunkers, or German Baptists, composing the Middle Conference, extending from the Susquehanna to the Allegheny Mountains, commenced their annual meeting on Saturday the 14th inst., (and which closed on Sunday evening,) at Mummert's Meeting House, two miles North of Abbottstown. The concourse of people in attendance on Saturday night and Sunday was very large.—The most important subject under consideration during their deliberations, was that of providing an educated ministry.—About sixty ministers were in attendance.—Hanover Spectator.

THE INDIANS COMING.—On Saturday next, May 28, the citizens of Gettysburg will have another opportunity of hearing the famous troupe of Indian Vocalists, under the direction of Prof. P. E. Flanders. The programme will consist of sacred, secular and sentimental music, and we advise all who enjoy good music and wish to spend a pleasant evening not to fail to be present. This troupe have been singing in the leading cities and towns of the United States, and everywhere have made a most favorable impression, the Press speaking of them in terms of unqualified commendation. Some time ago, Prof. Flanders visited Gettysburg with his troupe of vocalists, but the weather was so extremely unpleasant that but few of citizens had an opportunity of hearing.—Those who did pronounce them the best Vocalists that have visted our town. There is no humbug about Prof. Flanders and his party. Don't fail to secure good seats on Saturday.

COOK WANTED.—A first-class COOK can have a permanent place by calling at the "Keystone Hotel" immediately. None but a No. 1 Cook wanted, to whom good wages will be paid. 1t

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.—On Wednesday evening the Class of 1870 had their "Class-Day" exercises in the College campus, dedicatory of the Class Tree, which each succeeding graduating Class plants on the grounds. This year a fine Norway Maple had been selected. The Class went to unusual trouble, the College buildings and grounds presenting a gay and festive appearance. At the main entrance to the campus an evergreen arch had been sprung, with the mottoe "Welcome." Chinese lanterns of various forms and colors were suspended from the trees along the walks, in the arbors, and throughout the grove, in large numbers. The large portico in front of the main College building, with its massive pillars, was richly festooned with evergreens.—The Class exercises took place from a platform erected immediately in front of the steps, in the following order:

1—Music by the Gettysburg Brass Band.
2—Prayer by Prof. Baugher.
3—Singing of Class Song.
4—Salutatory, (Poem,) by J. A. Himes.
5—Music by Band.
6—History of the Class, by J. M. Reimensnyder.
7—Music by Band.
8—Class Prophecy, by B. J. Hickman.
9—Farewell Song.
10—Benediction by President Valentine.
11—Music by Band.

At the close of the exercises the College building was brilliantly illuminated, a flood of light pouring out from every window, the campus being lit up with innumerable Chinese lanterns. Fire works followed. Our citizens generally turned out to enjoy the scene, not less than one thousand ladies and gentlemen spending several hours on the grounds, the College building, President's and Professors' residences being thrown open to the visitors. Everything passed off pleasantly, without any disorder. By 10 o'clock the lights were extinguished and everything about the grounds resumed its wonted quiet.

ESCAPE.—On Saturday night last, Jacob Charles, alias Jacob Conrad, indicted for the burglary of Mr. Schick's store, made his escape from the County Jail, under circumstances which leave no doubt that he was assisted by outside parties. He was chained to the floor, in one of the cells which was locked. He sawed or filed the chain which fastened him to the floor, then opened his cell-door from within, relocking it as he passed out; unlocked a cell-door at the rear end of the corrider; broke through the wall of this cell, and made his escape over the outer Jail wall. As each cell has a different lock, no two cell keys being alike, the prisoner must have been furnished with keys from the outside specially prepared. Additional evidence of outside aid is furnished in the fact that the hole broken through the cell-wall shows marks of chisels or iron tools on the outside, the operations on the hole being conducted from within and without. A board was found propped against the outside wall of the cell in which the prisoner had been confined, by mounting which communication could be had with the prisoner through the cell window.

The escape was not discovered until Sunday morning. Detective Rouzer started in persuit, Sheriff Klunk accompanying him as far as York. Thus far nothing has been heard of him, except that a man auswering to Conrad's appearance was seen passing through New Oxford early on Sunday morning. Sheriff Klunk offers a reward of $100 for the arrest of the prisoner.

We understand that on Saturday afternoon a gentleman called at the Jail, to see Conrad, professing to be from Lancaster county, and apparently anxious to see whether he could identify the prisoner as the man who had been negotiating for the purchase of a farm. An interview was granted, the stranger professing to recognize Conrad, but the latter denying all knowledge of his visitor. Whether this person was a confederate and subsequently aided in Conrad's escape, is not known.

CROPS.—In the report of the Agricultural Department for the months of March and April, just issued, appears the following paragraph on the condition of the grain crop of Pennsylvania, as reported to the department by its correspondents in different sections of the State:

"In more than half the counties reported the condition of wheat and rye is placed below the average, not so much from winter-killing as from late germination and unfavorable conditions for growth before winter set in. Injury from freezing and thawing is reported in Chester, Dauphin, Adams, York, Greene, McKean, and Warren. In the latter county the necessity for draining as a means of exemption from such injuries is reported. It is significantly hinted by the Montgomery reporter that wheat looks well where it was put in well. It is also noticeable that it is not injured in limestone districts, while in poorer slate soils and in low lands it is more or less winter-killed. While it is not so good as usual in Mercer, there appears to have been more than usual sown. It presents a fair appearance in Clearfield, Elk, and Franklin; is "an usually fine" in Fayette; fine in Indiana; late, though not an average, in Westmoreland and Somerset; winter-killed in Cumberland; thin and poor in Armstrong, Lancaster, Lebanon, Beaver, Erie, Forest, Lehigh, and Lawrence.

A YOUNG MAN WANTED—To engage in a respectable business. Salary $100 per month. Address, with stamp, M. D. RAND, Cleaveland, Ohio. 1t

SCARF LOST.—Was lost, on Monday evening last, on Baltimore or High street, a scarlet Crape Scarf. The finder will be suitably rewarded on returning it to this office.

VALUABLE AND RELIABLE.—"Brown's Bronchial Troaches" will be found invaluable to those exposed to sudden changes, affording prompt relief in cases of Coughs, Colds, etc. For Public Speakers and Singers, and those who overtax the voice, they are useful in relieving an Irritated Throat, and will render articulation easy. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine. 1t

THE ADVANCE.—This excellent paper, which Henry Ward Beecher says is now "standing fairly on the highest ground yet reached by religious journals in America," is offered to the public for one dollar, from June until January next. To all who would be glad to try THE ADVANCE, an excellent opportunity is thus offered. Address THE ADVANCE Co., Chicago.

NOW IS THE TIME.—Harvest season is rapidly approaching, and Farmers are looking about for good Reapers, Mowers, and Agricultural Implements generally. It always pays to get the best, when buying; and we therefore direct attention to the advertisement of William Wible, Agent for Dodge's Reaper and Mower, and other first-class Agricultural Implements. Mr. Wible is himself a practical Farmer, has had large experience in Implements, and will deal in none but what he believes to be first-class.

ATTENTION FARMERS.—Try the celebrated Patent Elastic Rubber lined Collars, Saddles and Pads. Warranted to prevent horses from galling and to heal up under work horses already galled, If properly fitted; and sore necks and backs are kept clean with cold water and Castile Soap, or no pay. For sale by J. W. Cress, manufacturer's Agent, Gettysburg, Pa. Sept. 10-tf

THE NEWS FROM SPAIN.—The news from Spain gives us reason to hope for an early return of peace and order to that distracted country. The crown has been offered to Don Baldomero Espartero, and with great reluctance he has accepted it.—This acceptance is conditional upon the hearty support and approval of the Cortes and the people; but we are well assured that these will be given by large majorities of both, not only because it is desirable to end the strife of factions with which the country is kept in an uproar, but because Espartero is a popular man who has, and well deserves, the confidence of men of all parties. His selection for the honor is in some measure a triumph of Republican principles. The son of an humble mechanic, he began life as a common soldier, and by sheer force of natural ability, nearly always exercised in behalf of liberalism, he has won his way to a throne which is claimed by one of the oldest and proudest royal families in Europe. There is no doubt that he is better fitted for the position than any other public man in Spain.—He has had large experience in the executive office, having twice been at the head of Government, as Regent in 1841, and as Prime Minister in 1854. Since 1857 he has had very little to do with Spanish politics; and while he was deeply in sympathy with the movement to depose Isabella, he has been so little a bitter partisan, that the liberal men of all degrees and opinions can unite in supporting him much more readily than in the case of any other prominent Spaniard. Moreover, he is a man in whom even his political enemies repose entire confidence. Throughout his long and active public life he has borne an unblemished reputation as an honest, upright conscientious gentleman, and as a gallant and chivalrous soldier.

The principal objection to Espartero is that he is an old man, in his seventy-ninth year, and that he is childless. He cannot live a great while longer, and when his death occurs, unless provision for the succession is made meanwhile, the struggle of the factions which has agitated Spain so long will begin again, and the difficulty of selecting a satisfactory candidate will present itself in more formidable shape.

PROTECTION OF MARRIED WOMEN.—The following bill, passed by our late Legislature at Harrisburg, will protect deserted wives and bring erring and careless husbands to there senses:

Sec. 1. That whensoever any husband from drunkenness, profligacy or other cause whatsoever, shall desert his wife or neglect or refuse to live with her and provide for her, she shall as to every species and description of property, whether real, personal or mixed, owned by or belonging to her, have all the rights and privileges of a femme sole, to purchase or sell and convey the same as if she were sole and unmarried.

Sec. 2. That it shall be lawful for any married woman as aforesaid, to sue and be sued in her own name upon all such contracts as aforesaid, heretofore made or to be made, and to sue in her own name her husband, to recover the possession of her real estate, or the value thereof, as if she were sole and unmarried.

A LADY made reference the other day to Mr. Bryant's translation of Homer, in the presence of an old lady, who suddenly remarked, with a look of wonder: "Why, I didn't know's th's ever but one besides Enoch translated. I can't think of his name now; but 'tain't Homer—any way."

A LITTLE negro boy of the South had just been equipped with a new suit of clothes, the first he had ever had in his life, you may be sure. Next morning he appeared with one leg of the trowsers ripped up from shoe to waistband. On being asked how it happened, he answered: "Please, ma'am, I wanted to near it flop."

SEVERAL members of the Illinois Constitutional Convention, whose affinities are with the Bourdon Democracy, refused to sign the new instrument because the suffrage clause makes no distinction on account of color. The Democratic party will die of colorphobia yet.

THE receipts of the American Bible Society were larger last year than any year before, amounting to $747,058 69. Of these, $432,781 65 were derived from sales; $161,465 78 from donations; $116,935 35 from legacies, and $35,818 91 from rents of stores and offices in the Bible House.

THE prospects of Wm. M. Tweed, the Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall, being the next Governor of New York, are said to be good.

WM. L. GEARY, son of Governor Geary, has been appointed to a cadetship at West Point by the President.

REMOVED.—Jacob F. Thomas, Agent for the "Howe Sewing Maching," has removed from Wolf's Clothing Store to his new room on York street, next door to N. Codori & Son. Purchasers will bear in mind that the "Howe" is sold on a trial of its merits. Orders solicited. Machines delivered any place in the county. Instruction given gratis. Oil, Needles, &c., kept on hand. tf

☞Over-exertion, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup, (a protoxide of iron,) which gives strength and vigor to the whole system. 1t

☞A profuse and many times excessively offensive discharge from the nose, with "stopping up" of the nose at times, impairment of the sense of smell and taste, watering or weak eyes, impaired hearing, irregular appetite, occasional nausea, pressure and pain over the eyes, and at times in the back of the head, occasional chilly sensations, cold feet, and a feeling of lassitude and debility are symptoms which are common to catarrh, yet all of them are not present in every case. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures catarrh in its worst forms and stages. It is pleasant to use, and contains no caustic drugs.

Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

For sale by most Druggists everywhere.

ALWAYS AHEAD.—Capt. NORRIS is determined not to be outdone by rivals, and hence has been brushing up his "Head-Quarters," on the corner of the Diamond and Chambersburg street, (Arnold's corner,) where he has on hand the largest and best assortment of Ready-made Clothing of all kinds, for Spring and Summer use, ever opened in Gettysburg, and which he is offering at astonishing low figures. His stock of Straw Hats embrace all styles, qualities, and prices. April 22-tf.

☞Ladies desire what men admire. And this little thing is beauty. What do we say is beautiful? A transparent complexion and a luxuriant head of hair. What will produce these? Hagan's Magnolia Balm will make any lady of thirty appear but twenty; and Lyon's Kathairon will keep every hair in its place, and make it grow like the April grass. It prevents the hair from turning gray, eradicates Dandruff, and is the finest Hair Dressing in the world, and at only half ordinary cost. If you want to get rid of Sallowness, Pimples, Ring-marks, Moth-patches, etc., don't forget the Magnolia Balm, ladies. may6 1m

A WESTERN coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from exposure. "What do you mean by that?" asked a relative of the dead man; "there are two bullet-holes in his skull." The coroner replied, with a waive of his magisterial hand: "Just so; he died from exposure to bullets.

DODGE'S PATENT REAPER AND MOWER AND SELF-RAKER.

This machine has met with the most complete success. In every section where it has been introduced, it has taken precedence over those machines which have heretofore ranked as first-class. It is a perfect Self-Raker and a superior Mower.

A careful examination will convince any one of its superior merits over all others, in simplicity, strength and durability. As a Self-raking Reaper it has no equal to our knowledge.

The Dodge rake is attached to no other machine in the United States, except to this machine. Built by the DODGE & STEVENSON Manufacturing Co., Auburn, New York.

READ THE NOTICE OF THE COMPANY TO OUR AGENTS:

Having been informed that certain manufacturers in Ohio and elsewhere are building Reapers, with DODGE'S SELF-RAKE attached, we ask you to furnish us the names of all persons vending or purchasing such machines, as we have never licensed any person or persons to manufacture said SELF-RAKE, or any part thereof, and will prosecute to the full extent of the law all persons manufacturing, selling or using said Self-Rake except of our own manufacture.
JOHN A. DODGE, President.

We have that confidence in this machine that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test it with any other machine they may wish, and keep the one that gives the most satisfaction.

Farmers wanting Droppers attached can be accommodated.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we would refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold, viz:

Henry Culp,	Peter Mackley,
John B. Lens,	Wm. Durney,
Jesse D. Newman,	Elisha Penrose,
George F. Minter,	John Deardorff,

George Philips.

ON HAND A FEW SECOND HAND REAPERS. Also, WIRE-TOOTH HAY RAKES, of different make, amongst which is the Brandt Rake. A few PLOUGHS of different kinds, Thresher and Separator one of the best and cheapest ever offered in the county. HARRISBURG FANNING MILL AND FARM IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY.

Persons wishing to examine machines will find them at the warehouse of Jos. Wible & Son, Gettysburg, Pa., or at the residence of the subscriber, 2 miles from Gettysburg, on the Harrisburg road.

☞KEPT CONSTANTLY ON HAND in case of breakage. Persons wanting Circulars will address the subscriber, Gettysburg, Pa.

THE GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion, or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

☞Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of POOR RUM, WHISKEY, PROOF SPIRITS, AND REFUSE LIQUORS, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, FREE FROM ALL ALCOHOLIC STIMULANTS.—They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For INFLAMMATORY and CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, and GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILIOUS, REMITTENT, AND INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine.—The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody.—Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR and LOSS OF APPETITE, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For DYSENTERY or DIARRHOEA, but one mild dose is generally required.

For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

O, Painter of the fruits
We thank Thee for Thy...
Whereby these human hearts...
In nature's garden work with Thine.
And thanks thee from our daily need
The joy of simple faith is born,
That he who smiles at summer weed
May trust Thee for the autumn corn.
Give fools their gold and knaves their power,
Let fortune's bubbles rise and fall;
Who sows a field or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all.
For he who blesses most is blest;
And God and man shall own his worth
Who toils to leave as a bequest
An added beauty to the earth.
And, soon or late, to all that sow,
The time of harvest shall be given;
The flowers shall bloom, the fruit shall grow,
If not on earth, at least in heaven.

SALTING MILCH COWS.

William Egger, a Swiss dairyman of experience, states the method practiced in Switzerland by the best stock keepers in salting stock. He says cows should be salted early every morning, and if they are fed in the stable the salt should be given before foddering. Salting in this way improves their appetite; they drink with more regularity, are kept in better health, and give more milk than when salted in the usual way as practiced by dairymen in America. He thinks it very injurious to salt milch cows only once or twice a week, as they will lick too much for the day. To have stock to do well, they must be fed with regularity, every day alike, and never given too much of any thing at one time.

He says, throwing a little salt before the cows in the morning, is much better than allowing them to have free access to it during the day or at all times, as they choose to take it; because, as it is not taken with regularity, they will not drink with regularity, which has a very important influence in lessening the average yield of milk. Cows, he says, should never be salted after taking water, and then have no chance to drink for hours, as the irritation, on account of thirst, will of itself depreciate the quality of milk and lessen the quantity. These facts he says he learned from one of the best and most successful stock keepers in Switzerland, and has found, by repeated experiments in his own practice, to be the best course to be adopted by dairymen in salting cows, in order to get the most milk, and, at the same time, keep them in good health.

THE VALUE OF LEAVES.

A bushel of well pressed dry leaves, as they fall from the trees in autumn, weighs about four pounds; by further drying they part with a little more than thirty per cent. of water held in the cells of the leaf structure. A cord of absolutely dry leaves will weigh about 320 pounds, reckoning 100 bushels to the cord. In weight then, a cord represents about one-twelfth of a cord of wet barnyard manure, and if they contain the same amount of fertilising material in the same condition, would be equal in value to that amount of manure. But this is far from being the fact. The dried leaves I have found to stand relatively to the leached organic matter of manure, as 10 to 30 in ash-value, and taken into account, the comparative value is as 10 to 60, weight to weight. A cord of dry forest leaves, made up of the usual deciduous varieties, maple, beech, oaks, &c., has an actual manurial value of not over fifty cents, reckoning stable manure at eight dollars the cord. Will it pay to collect them? Certainly not for the amount of fertilizing material they contain.—As litter or absorbents in the stable, leaves have some value, but much less than straw, inasmuch as they lack the reedy character of straw, and because they are far more difficultly and slowly decomposed.—Dr. James R. Nicholls.

UNFERMENTED MANURE.—Many excellent farmers have an idea that manure to be most efficient in raising crops should be well rotted; but this is a mistake. Manure loses a very heavy per centage. Fresh manure, dripping with animal urine, hauled directly from the stable on the land and ploughed under, is worth nearly double that which has decomposed to a saponaceous consistency. When it is convenient for farmers to haul their manure on corn ground from the stable as fast as it is made, it saves handling it twice, and forwards the work in busy spring time. No fears need be entertained that the atmosphere will carry off the strength of the manure if left on the surface. The only danger to be apprehended by this method will be in case of the ground being frozen and covered with snow and ice when the manure is applied; if upon sloping land, the virtue of the manure might wash away; but on level land there is no exception to this plan of operation during the entire fall and winter season.—Germantown Telegraph.

HOW TO GET BIG CROPS.—As a rule farmers are much more ambitious to get big prices, than big crops. There are few farms whose average production could not be doubled in a very short time by more capital and labor. It is safer to use capital in farming than in almost any other business. The credit of the plow is quite as good as that of the loom and anvil; and the capital will come, if it is called for.—Use more manure, and get thirty bushels of wheat where you now get fifteen, and eighty bushels of corn where you now get forty. The quantity of grain per acre is mainly a question of manure and tillage. A big compost-heap makes a full grain bin. With high manuring the soil needs deeper stirring and a gradual bringing up of the subsoil to the surface. With the present horse harrows and cultivators, nearly all the cultivation can be done by horse-power, at a great saving of expense and great increase of the crops.

HERE is the pithiest sermon ever preached: "Our ingress in life is naked and bare; our progress through life is trouble and care; our egress out of it we know not where; but doing well here we shall do well there."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.
